

Hayden Holcomb has lived in Cherokee County for his entire life. He is a Cherokee County School system graduate and in 2017, he graduated from Reinhardt University with a bachelor of criminal justice degree. In 2020, Hayden completed his Master of Business Administration degree, also from Reinhardt University. He has been married to his wife, Savannah Turner Holcomb, for 4 years and they just welcomed their son, Hudson, into the world in October 2022.

Hayden is an Executive Vice President with Chick-fil-A Canton, having worked with the organization for 12 years. He also leads a facility called, New Ground Farm, that is located between Canton & Hickory Flat. He hopes to continue to make a difference in the community through the growth and development of New Ground Farm. The mission is to be an encouragement to parents and families by providing education and resources that renew and strengthen healthy relationships.

One of Hayden's greatest joys is community involvement. "Through Chick-fil-A Canton, I'm involved with Goshen Valley, the Cherokee County Educational Foundation, Younglife, Untold, and many more local causes" Hayden explains.

Hayden has a passion for preserving and improving the incredible community he grew up in for his son to enjoy.
